inserting your SIM card

To insert your SIM card:

- 1 Remove the SIM card from its plastic surround by carefully pushing it out. Its contacts are easily damaged so take care when doing this and try to avoid touching them.
- 2 Remove the battery cover and battery and insert your SIM card so that the cut-off corner fits into the surround.
- 3 Slide the SIM card up and into place.

your Home screen

We have added the Home screen to your mobile phone so that you can move straight to the features you use the most as well as see at a glance any missed calls or new messages.

quick access

The Home screen lets you launch key features of your mobile phone and great services from Orange in as little as two key presses. Whether you want to send an SMS, take a photo or start exploring Orange World, you can now do it faster than ever.

your Home screen

all the options

Each time you select one of the icons in the left of your screen, you're presented with a list of options that give you even more choice. So, for example, when you want to browse Orange World, you can choose to go direct to the selected Orange World area.

get an overview

Another great feature of the Home screen is that you can see at a single glance whether you've missed any calls, received any SMS or have any live appointments. To get more details, all you need to do is scroll to the relevant icon and click on it.

come back soon

Whenever you finish using a feature on your mobile phone, you'll be returned to the Home screen. It will soon become a familiar starting point for exploring the great services that Orange has to offer.

Orange Box

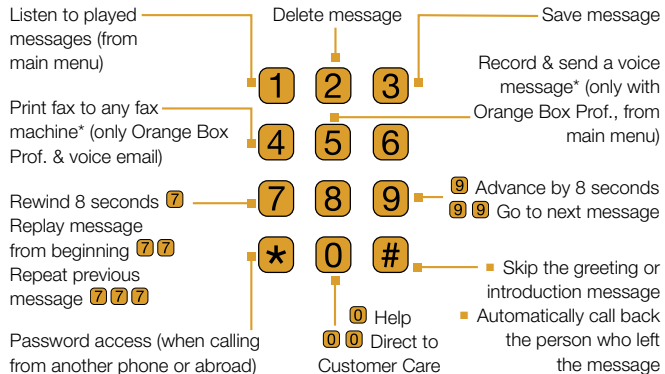

Orange business customers

If you're a business customer we've created the Expert Home page to make your phone even more useful. The Expert Home screen gives you the option to choose your favourite applications and create a shortcut to them from the Home screen.

You can deactivate the Expert mode Home screen by choosing Options from the Expert icon menu on the Home page. Unchecking the box will activate your regular Home screen and the Expert icon will be replaced by the Camera icon.

Your Orange Box is already active. Just dial your number as follows: +41 86 078 xxx xx xx, for example, if your mobile phone number is 078 123 45 67 you would dial +41 86 078 123 45 67. The first time you use your Orange Box you will be prompted to: a) create a new password, b) record your own personalised greeting message and c) record your voice signature (see details below).

* Orange Box advanced features available with Orange Box Professional and/or voice email. For more details on Orange Box and its advanced features check our website orange.ch.

Orange Box

Orange World

Use Orange World to stay informed, in touch and in control wherever your day takes you.

We understand that you need to stay ahead of the game even when you're away from your office, and Orange World is full of useful applications and features that perfectly compliment your SPV to make sure you know what's going on.

You can easily personalise your homepage for fast access to the pages you need, whether you're looking for information, to get organised or simply to have fun.

Why not explore Orange World now and try out a download? Simply use the  in the Home screen to open Microsoft® Pocket Internet Explorer and follow the links from there.

setting up your email account

Stay on top of your email inbox even when you're away from your computer.

If your personal or corporate email account is POP3- or IMAP4-enabled you can use your mobile phone to manage your emails.* You will need to ask your IT department or provider for the correct settings and then you can create a new account on your mobile phone.

Before you can send emails, you must set up your data connection, then insert your email account details.

To set up your email account:

- 1 Press Start from the Home screen. Scroll to Messaging. Choose Outlook E-Mail.
- 2 Press Menu and scroll to Options. Select Account Options then press Menu and select New to define a new account.
- 3 You will enter the email setup process. Enter your name and email address.
- 4 Check the Automatic Setup box and press Next. Autoconfiguration will begin. This means your SPV C600 connects to your email server to automatically download the settings you need. If successful, you can begin sending and receiving emails immediately.

* POP3 and IMAP4 are standard communication technologies that enable users, for example, to download emails onto their mobile phone.

setting up your email account

- 5 If autoconfiguration is unsuccessful, you will need to manually enter the information. You may need to contact your IT department for some of the settings.
 - 6 Enter your user name and password for your email account. Press Next.
 - 7 Scroll left or right to choose your server type.
 - 8 Enter a name for this email account then choose a type of network for the account.
 - 9 Enter the details for your incoming and outgoing mail and press Next.
 - 10 Choose your email download preferences. Press Finish, and this account will be ready to use.
- All Orange customers can benefit from a free email account on the Orangemail service. To activate your account, go to orange.ch.
 - Orangemail settings are pre-configured in your SPV C600. Only your personal data (user name, password, email address) must be completed.
 - For your reference, please go to the settings table on the following page.

sending your first email

Once you have set up your email accounts, sending email couldn't be simpler.

To send your first email:

- 1 Press Start from the Home screen. Scroll to Messaging.
- 2 Choose the email account you wish to use. Press New.
- 3 Fill in the To and Cc or Bcc fields. You can enter contacts manually or press the action key to use your address book.
- 4 Enter a subject for your email and then write the full message.
- 5 You can add attachments by pressing Menu.
- 6 Press Send to send your message.

To manually check for new email, select the email account you wish to check. Press Menu and select Send/Receive.

synchronise your phone why connect?

Your SPV C600 has several methods of connecting to different devices, allowing you to access your company Intranet, connect to the Internet, synchronise information using ActiveSync® and send and receive data without wires using Bluetooth®.

By synchronising your SPV C600 and your PC, you can make sure that all of your important information, like emails and contacts, are kept up to date. You can also use synchronisation to add new programs and exchange files between your computer and your SPV C600.

First, you will need to install Outlook 2002 (if you don't have this already) and the new version of Microsoft® ActiveSync® 4.0 from the Companion CD that came with your SPV C600, as earlier versions will not work with your SPV C600.

Bluetooth® is a new radio technology that enables you to make wireless connections between your phone and other electronic devices. This allows for the easy exchange of both information and files and enables you to use your phone as a modem for your laptop.

You may already have a Bluetooth® headset, you may be considering buying one, or you may have Bluetooth® on your laptop or PDA. For any of the devices, before you can begin transferring information you must pair them. It only takes a few seconds to do.

To pair two Bluetooth® devices:

- 1 Ensure both devices are within 10 metres of each other and both have Bluetooth® active.
- 2 Press Start and select Comm Manager then press 2. Select Settings then choose 1.
- 3 Click on Menu then press 1. Select Menu again, and choose New.

- 4 Your SPV C600 will search for other devices. After a few seconds you will see a list of devices found.
- 5 Select the name of the device you want to connect with, then press Next. Enter the passkey if required or click on Next.
